> Rreal Taco Midtown is stealing. This is the second time that they loaded my burrito up with rice and completely skimped on the meat. Not only that but they have also made their burritos smaller. It's deceitful and cheap.

> I got birria with consomme and it was filled with cheese, chicken, and barely any cilantro or onion. This was my second time visiting and won't be coming back. The food is subpar, service is good, atmosphere is alright. But I spent over $100 on Valentines Day for dry tacos that had no flavor and it took quite a while to have anything brought to the table.

> I was really looking forward to trying Rreal Tacos, but unfortunately my experience was disappointing. The biggest issue was the wait time. We were told there would be a wait, but it ended up taking about an hour and a half to be seated--even though there were multiple open tables visible the entire time. It was confusing and frustrating watching empty tables sit unused while guests continued waiting. Once seated, the service didn't improve much. The wait staff seemed unsure about their responsibilities, and there was a noticeable lack of coordination. It felt disorganized rather than busy. When the food finally arrived, it was cold. After such a long wait, that was especially disappointing. Good food and good service can make up for delays, but unfortunately neither hit the mark during this visit. I hope this was just an off night because the atmosphere has potential. With better organization and attention to service, the experience could be much better.

Ordered 3 tacos, 3 little bitty tacos, cilantro and onion only. I walked, and arrived at this restaurant, 30 minutes after placing my order to go, and picking up from curbside. Food wasn't ready. Waited outside in front 30 more minutes for food to come out. Wasn't offered a water, a seat, nothing. Just standing there, patiently. They were guarding the door from letting people in like Trump was inside. Then after they bring my food, didn't bring the drink with it. Manager said, "I'll get your drink." Guess what happen, I waited another 5 minutes for the manager to come back outside, without the drink, and not say a word. I inform the hostess that the manager didn't bring the drink, so she decides to go get it (thank you) which took another 5 minutes. So I spent 1:10 minutes total, waiting on 3 tacos and drink. No, our apology. No, here is this complimentary, nothing. Yall terrible 1 ⭐ never going back. This all happened 2/10/26 Buckhead location around 8pm. 🗑️ servers are amazing, however the food was not very pleasant and the manager seemed a little bothered that my order wasn't delivered correctly but all i wanted was my order that i paid for. also, i asked who the tip on the to go screen goes to and the lady General manager lied and said it was to the hostess but when i asked them they don't earn any tips.. so who is getting all the tips on to-go orders and when the servers tip out who is it going to? i'm asking because its my money i always tip when i order myself on the screen but this made me not want to tip the company anymore.

(Translated by Google) Honestly, I've come here quite often, and every time the general manager, Ceci, is there, she's incredibly disrespectful. She spoke to my daughter in English, and the way she responded was neither appropriate nor acceptable for someone in that position. She needs to practice and expand her English because she doesn't know the correct usage of English words; she needs to be more tactful with her vocabulary. Her service is unpleasant, and for that reason, I've decided never to return to this place. The waitresses, Emily and Johanna, the host, Leah, and the bartenders, David and Monse, are always very attentive and made it worthwhile to come here, but after this incident, they've lost me as a customer. Thank you. (Original) La verdad que yo e venido muy seguido y cada vez que la manager general Ceci está ahí ella es demasiado irrespetuosa, ella habló con mi hija en inglés y la manera que le contesto no es acta ni aceptable para alguien con ese cargo. Ella tiene que practicar e expandir su inglés porque no sabe el uso correcto de las palabras en inglés debe ser más táctil con las palabras que utiliza. El servicio de ella no es algo agradable y por esa razón decidí no regresar nunca a este lugar. Las meseras Emily, Johanna, La host Leah y bartender David y Monse ellos siempre son muy atentos ellos hacían que valiera la pena venir aquí pero después de este incidente me pierden como clienta. Gracias

(Translated by Google) Unfortunately, the service today was terrible… I arrived around 2 pm, and no one greeted me at the inn, so I decided to sit at the bar outside… After about 10 minutes, the bartender appeared with a glass of water. Without even saying hello, she never made eye contact (I felt like an invisible man), just placing the glass down and that was it… Then she reappeared 5 minutes later to take my order, and she never brought napkins, silverware, or sauces. I think she was preoccupied with something else entirely and not paying attention to her customers. She never served me; I think I asked the manager for the bill: everything was a mess. I'm sorry. (Original) Lastimosamente el servicio de hoy fue terrible… fui a eso de las 2pm, nadie me recibió en hostería, entonces decidí por mi cuenta sentarme en la barra de afuera… después de 10 mins aprox, apareció la bartender con un Vaso de agua. Sin ni siquiera saludar, jamás hizo contacto visual,(me sentí el hombre invisible) ,únicamente poniendo el vaso y ya… luego apareció 5 mins después a tomar la orden, no trajo nunca servilletas, cubiertos y salsas. Creo que ella estaba en otro cuento menos atendiendo a sus clientes. Jamás me atendió, la cuenta se la pedi creo que al manager: todo mal. Lo siento.

20 minutes we were at table. Never once saw a server. Ask hostess she said she was sorry and would get one. Nope still no service. We had to finally leave to go somewhere else. First and last time going.

I must have gone on a bad day because I honestly don't see the hype. We were quoted a 1 hour and 30 minute wait for seating. Well after that time passed, we went inside to ask for an update, fully understanding that it was a busy day. The host told us our table was being cleaned and asked us to stand to the side. We then stood there for another 20 minutes, right by the kissing booth, where a table (and many others) remained open the entire time—so I'm not sure what the additional wait was for. This was our first visit, and unfortunately, most of the food tasted bland and unseasoned. We started with drinks, which were amazing. Next came the queso and chips, which arrived cold (we had to ask for it to be reheated). We also ordered extra jalapeños on the side, were charged for them, but never received them. Up until this point, we were still okay—but once the entrées arrived, the disappointment really set in. The Valentine's Birria Pizza was HORRIBLE it tasted like boiled chicken and cheese slapped into a tortilla—there was absolutely no seasoning or flavor. I then ordered a regular birria taco (they had apparently run out of the red tortillas mid-day). It was just okay but lacked seasoning. To make it worse, the consommé that came with the pizza had zero flavor—no cilantro, no onions, nothing at all! It didn't look anything like the website photos. Lastly, we ordered the ramen bowl, and the broth was literally just red WATER. When I say it had no seasoning, I mean none—it was incredibly bland and disappointing. Considering how much we spent, it was frustrating that everything except the drinks and queso fell short. I will say the décor is definitely a vibe—beautifully decorated for Valentine's Day—and our server was great. However, I just can't get past the food, which was the biggest letdown of the experience.

Food was good didn't care for server Avany. She wasn't the most friendly or attentative. Never been to an establishment where I received my food faster then my drink 😂

So the food is usually good. However, the customer service I just received is quite crazy. After making a 7:30PM reservation, and arriving at 7:25PM to check in, we were made to wait AN HOUR to get a table. There was zero prioritization of us having made reservations. When we asked about our table, we were told repeatedly that other guests (that have been there since 5/6PM) were still talking and loitering after paying. The staff refused to kick them out even though they are well within right to remove loitering guests. It was all around disappointing as we had guests out of town we brought to show them one of our frequent and quality places…

Great burritos and cocktails for sure. Horrible service, and terrible atmosphere.. why is it so loud here? If you want to talk to even the person next to you, you will have to scream, no lie! If you want to place a takeout order you have to come into the building and order it yourself at a kiosk, they will NOT take phone orders, even though at any given time there's a dozen staff on duty standing around ignoring the phones. The place is cluttered with stuff, just stuff everywhere, tacky obnoxious stuff everywhere you turn, which makes it hard to walk around. Good burrito, but plan for take out if you plan to eat here at all. Oh and the take out wait is ALWAYS 30 mins, no urgency at all! Good luck!

went to get dinner with a friend last night. food was great as always. the service unfortunately was not. i am a server myself, so i understand we can get busy and all but it was not crowded last night. our server i believe her name is maria, i am not certain as she only came to our table twice and never returned was also bartending. half of our food came out first so when the other half came it was cold. she never came by to see how the food and drinks were as she also had other people run the items. then we had to flag down another server and ask them to ask her to stop by because we were missing items and instead of her coming by she sent another server. that second server was super sweet and helped us. ultimately, my friend and i go to rreal tacos all the time and have never had this level of service. she was blatantly ignoring us. very disappointed.

Arrived 4:00 on 2/14/26. We just left on Valentine's day and our visit was a disaster! We sat at table H17 and nobody greeted us. We sat and waited and 3 different waiters kept apologizing saying our waiter was coming. One waiter brought us water. Another took our drink order which we got after a long wait. I asked for real orange slices and didn't get them. I asked 3 different waiters for orange slices because we didn't have a waiter. Finally my daughter went to the bar to get the orange slices and the dark haired bartender working was extremely rude and said they were busy and you have to ask your waiter. We said we already asked 3 waiters and she still would not give them to my daughter. She had a rude facial expression and a mean tone in her voice. She wouldn't be my bartender if I owned that restaurant. The oranges eventually were delivered. Then our real waiter arrived and never greeted us or apologized for the wait. We then knew we would just get chips and dip and leave. We ordered the trio chips and dips and paid our bill and left. Not sure how we fell through the cracks at your restaurant today but it was a real disappointment. Decorations were spot on but service was terrible.
