> I was visiting a friend in Duluth and I hadn't eaten all day. She raved about this place, so I said I'm definitely going there! Placing the to go order was simple enough. While I waited, I walked around to the other shops. At 3:17 pm I received a text that my order was being packed up. I went back inside and told the hostess that I received a message that my order was ready. She asked for my name, then went to check on it. She came back and said it wasn't ready yet. At some point I checked in again with another hostess who was not helpful. Mind you, there are at least 4-5 staff crowded at the stand, socializing, so I'm thinking someone will actually pay attention to me waiting and offer an update. No such luck. A total of 20 mins after I was notified that the order was ready, I inquired with yet another hostess who checks the warmer and my bag is just sitting there. The only bag in there. As I grab the bag and turn to leave, she says, "wait! You still need your drink!" (And then goes to get it. I'm truly baffled at what was so difficult about getting my order and my drink.) When she returns, she does apologize and explains away the other hostess's poor customer service, saying they are new. I said to her, they need to learn to communicate. Both of them knew I was waiting on an order. Both of them asked my name, yet my bag was just sitting in there after I've > waited 20 mins after you said the order was ready?! And the “best” part? Queso is the first ingredient in the nachos description on the menu. AND THERE WAS NO CHEESE WHATSOEVER. They gave me dry nachos 🤬

> The food was good but the service was not. Our server decided to go on break right after taking our order, so we were left sitting there with no drinks and no food. Music was good though.

> Great food. Great dining in. Terrible way to place carry out orders. Zero customer service. Terrible customer service. Absolutely abhor the way to place a carry out order.

> Service was decent but speedy. Overall restaurant appearance was clean and tidy in the midst of the outdoor renovation project. Music was loud but I think it's part of the ambiance. I sat down and had the worst Mexican inspired food in my life. Ordered Birria Taco that was lacking salt, dipping sauce sold separately. It also had cheese which was unexpected. The fish taco was too salty. And the Tres Leches was the top disappointment. It tasted like cake mix. You can literally see the underbaked texture in the photos. Best thing about this place is the 2 hour parking validation.
