> Extremely disappointing and unacceptable experience at Real Tacos BeltLine. I was seated at the bar and repeatedly overlooked while multiple customers who arrived AFTER me were served first. Staff walked past me several times without acknowledgment, and this continued even after I brought it to their attention. At that point, this was no longer just poor service — it was a clear pattern of being ignored. While I won't speculate on intent, being consistently passed over while others were prioritized raises serious concerns about how customers are treated at this location. Management needs to review this situation, including camera footage, and explain how this was allowed to happen. No customer should have to question whether they are being treated fairly. I expect a response from management addressing this directly.

> If there is a line at the host stand don't stand in it. Cut in front of everyone bc if not they will give your table away (5 min grace period) even if you were just respectfully waiting in line. I personally think there has to be a better way but I guess not.

> It's crazy that they have a lot and you have to pay to park there and pay to eat and then I'll give you anything as compensation. I will not be back there.

> My partner and I visited the Lawrenceville location on March 27, 2026 at about 1:30 pm for lunch. We walked in and there were about 7 staff memes hanging out at the host station and one immediately took us to a table. There was a manager (presumably) doing an interview at the table by the door. Though just hustle and bustle I arrived at the table about 20 seconds later than my partner and the hostess was already headed back to the hangout spot, so I missed her speil about the QR code menu. We were seated in the patio/sun room, which was very hot and loud. I was immediately annoyed and my partner said we weren't given the option to sit "inside". We were immediately greeted by a waitress (I'm seated but my purse is still in my hand/on the table). I try not to judge a book by its cover, but this is food service, this girl was FILTHY! She put the water on the table and I noticed she had 2 mystery globs of food on her hands. Ew. She explained she was in training and would be helping us. Ok, but still, wash your hands? She asked for our drink orders and I explained that I hadn't had a change to even open to menu yet. Didn't matter to our girl, she just pressed on talking about the menu, which I again explained I haven't looked at since idk what she is referring to. She again asked for the drink orders. My partner (who works in the restaurant industry) asked her to give us more time. I pulled up the menu as soon as she walked off and she sees that I have my phone out and IMMEDIATELY returns to the table to talk to us about Salas. Meanwhile I was still trying to pick a drink! I told her I was overwhelmed and needed time. She left again and then the walls came down… literally! They "rolled down" The glass walls to turn the already hot sun room into a patio. I have allergies and the entire outside is covered in pollen, I don't want to sit on a patio and sneeze into my food. My partner suggested that we just leave and go elsewhere. The bartenders hanging out behind theoutside bar watched us get up and exit. As did our server, the gaggle of staff at the front desk, an the manager sitting by the door. Not one single person attempted to extend any customer service. Long story short, we went down the road to Frida's where the parking was free, the chips and salsa is free, the staff and restaurant are clean, and we were given the option of indoors or patio.

They are slow shorted me a taco. Also the bartenders over pour and using the same shaker to scoop the ice and makes the drink.

> Very disappointing experience. Our server Cindy was inattentive and slow from the start, and seemed annoyed the entire time. We felt ignored and had to ask various servers for basic things. Food and drinks were great! Overall the service was not. Would not come back or recommend.
